

10 October 2018

CALL FOR RESEARCH PAPERS

2019 Biennial IADI Research Conference

Towards Building a More Resilient Financial System –
Challenges in Deposit Insurance and Bank Resolution

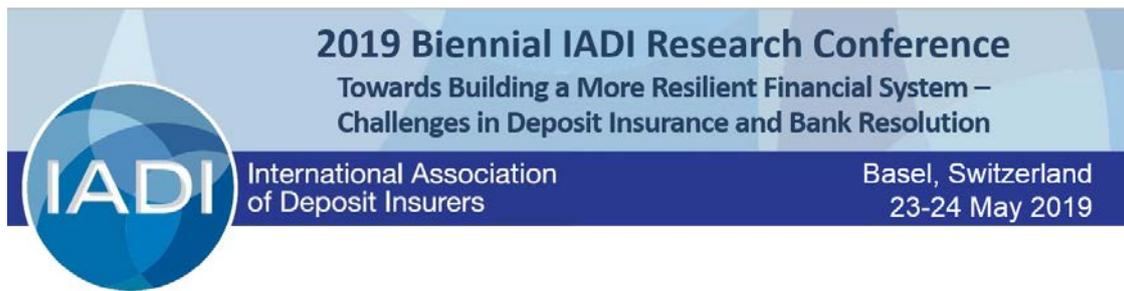

The International Association of Deposit Insurers (IADI) invites research papers for its Biennial Research Conference to be held at the Bank for International Settlements in Basel, Switzerland on 23-24 May 2019.

Since the last global financial crisis, deposit insurance systems have evolved in their role in protecting depositors and maintaining financial system stability. IADI established its Core Principles for Effective Deposit Insurance Systems, which emphasise the importance of prompt payouts, clear funding arrangements and more effective contingency planning and crisis management, among other critical elements, to ensure that deposit insurance systems are effective and credible. As financial systems innovate and explore new business avenues, the financial safety net providing confidence to customers and depositors faces new challenges. The 2019 IADI Research Conference invites research papers that identify key challenges for deposit insurers and resolution authorities, including approaches to address these challenges.

The IADI research conference provides a forum for researchers and deposit insurance/bank resolution practitioners to advance our knowledge about a wide range of issues facing deposit insurers. Thus, the format of the conference will be a blend of research paper presentations with discussants and panels of practitioner experts.

For the research paper sessions, the Program Committee invites theoretical and empirical papers of relevance to deposit insurers. Topics of special interest include, but are not limited to:

1. Funding for deposit insurance and resolution
2. Optimising deposit insurance coverage
3. Factors determining fees/premiums of deposit insurance

4. Developments in Fintech and implications for financial stability and deposit insurers (e.g. payment products, lending and deposit-taking)
5. Assessment of liquidity needs for deposit insurance systems
6. Issues in the design of harmonised deposit insurance systems (e.g. EDIS)
7. Cost comparisons of dealing with crises
8. Early warning indicators for bank failures
9. Shadow banking and financial stability

In addition to the above-mentioned indicative topics, the organisers may consider research in the area of bank supervision and resolution frameworks and issues concerning financial stability.

The conference will be spread over one and half days and will include presentations by authors of selected research papers and panel discussions by the practitioners. Each research paper will be discussed by discussants. Ample time will be provided for audience participation and informal discussions among conference participants. Research papers and panel presentations will be posted on the IADI public web site subject to the permission of authors and conference proceedings will be published.

Expenses for travel and lodging will be reimbursed for researchers whose papers are selected for presentation at the conference.

Paper submissions must be received by end-January 2019. Authors will be notified regarding the status of their papers by early-March 2019.

Please submit papers by email as “pdf” files to: David.Walker@iadi.org and Kumudini.Hajra@iadi.org. Please name the file: “YourLastName.iadi.pdf.”

For additional information, please contact the IADI Secretary General, Mr. David Walker at David.Walker@iadi.org or IADI Senior Policy and Research Advisor, Ms. Kumudini Hajra at Kumudini.Hajra@iadi.org.